The Limes Ely - Cambridgeshire

A Making Space care home

A real home-from-home

The Limes is a large and impressive period house where Making Space provides specialist nursing care and enabling support for people with early-onset Dementia, Korsakoff's Syndrome, mental disorders and physical disabilities. Its committed care team also specialises in caring for people with Huntington's Disease, Pick's Disease and other associated complex needs.

Located in the Cambridgeshire village of Littleport, just three miles from the cathedral city of Ely, The Limes sits in its own delightful garden and grounds which add even further to its charm and character. It's also very much a part of the friendly village community on its doorstep, where there are shops, churches, a leisure centre, library, clubs, societies and charitable organisations.

This 19 bed 'home-from-home' is staffed by a highly motivated and professionally trained nursing team, and provides a comfortable and appropriately secure living environment.

Naturally, the day-to-day work can be extremely challenging. But we always create an atmosphere that is welcoming for residents, staff and visitors, while safeguarding everyone's well-being.

The Limes for everyday life

Making Space is investing significantly to refurbish and upgrade facilities at The Limes. Already rated a 'good' service by the Care Quality Commission (CQC) this new work is a typical, full Making Space makeover to make us perfectly equipped to help more people achieve their potential, despite their complex and challenging needs.

These facilities are designed to suit both men and women, as we aim to create the right balance between privacy and enhanced social opportunities.

The Limes is built on the love and devotion of the families and carers we work with – along with other support services – to ensure that residents can all live as independently as possible...and enjoy an everyday quality of life.

Why Making Space?

Making Space was set up nearly 30 years ago to help make a difference for people who found it difficult to access the kind of facilities that most of us take for granted.

- Making Space people are committed to providing the highest level of care and support.
- We are trained in person-centred planning, and use this knowledge alongside that of carers and families.
- We know and understand that the right support takes great commitment, patience and empathy.

If all people are entitled to access health, education and other civil services, it's our role to ask the questions – and deliver the answers – that make sure the people we care for have the same opportunities.

- How do people become active members of their local communities?
- What kinds and levels of education are available?
- How can people use transport services?
- How do we ensure that people's individual financial support needs are safeguarded and delivered?
